

How to use the files:

Generic 90_Demov2.qxw

- This is the setup file for QLC+ Windows only. You can put this on your desktop or wherever you store your QLC+ setups.
- There are 5 pages in the virtual console:
 - Pages 1 through 3 are fader pages which will work with the OSC tablet template
 - Page 4 is a cue control page that will work with the tablet and iPhone OSC template
 - Page 5 is to turn lights on and off for focusing and is designed to work with the iPhone OSC template

The following files are “profile files” that tell QLC+ how to interpret the OSC commands being sent by the OSC templates listed below. You need to place these files in a specific location so that when QLC+ boots up, it can find them. They should be placed in the following directory:

C:\Users\”your user name”\QLC+\InputProfiles

Touch OSC 90 profile.qxi

- Tablet TouchOSC profile. Use this profile with the tablet template below.

TouchOSCMk1-Generic90iPhone.qxi

- Smartphone TouchOSC profile. Use this profile with the smartphone template below.

Touch OSC Templates created with vers.1.8.9 desktop editor

- You can download this desktop editor software at: <https://hexler.net/touchosc-mk1>

QLC 90 template.touchosc

- This is a TouchOSC template designed to be used with a tablet to remotely control the above QLC+ virtual console

Generic 90 iPhone.touchosc

- This is a TouchOSC template designed to be used with a smartphone to remotely control the above QLC+ virtual console

How to use the above templates:

1. Download and install the TouchOSC App on your tablet or smartphone
2. Download and install the TouchOSC desktop editor on your computer (see link above)
3. Start the desktop editor and load one of the templates above
4. Click on “sync” and the template will be sent to your tablet or smartphone
5. The template will now appear on your tablet or smartphone list of templates
